Text Analytics

From the tests it is deduced that Text Analytics works better predicting positive results than negative ones, as the score turns very high if any "good" word is detected, although the review being negative.